HOW SARAH WAS SURROUNDED BY LOVE AND PROTECTION AT ST LUKE'S

Sarah Jones was just 46 when she first noticed signs she initially attributed to stress. Leaving her banking career, she became a volunteer at the St Luke's shop in Crookes, spending more time with her husband Gareth and sons, Lewis and Euan, at their High Storrs home.

What no one could have anticipated was her dual diagnosis of dementia and Motor Neurone Disease (MND), conditions that took away the life she knew. Sarah was among just 700 people in the UK with both illnesses, which left her unable to talk, understand non-simple tasks, prone to dangerous infection, and severely effected her ability to eat.

“The dementia diagnosis came first, and at the end of 2023, we learned Sarah also had MND,” says Gareth. “In early 2024, we were referred to St Luke’s.”

The St Luke's Community team provided regular home visits and extensive care, however complications led to Sarah's admission to the St Luke's In Patient Centre. “Sarah having both MND and dementia was like a marathon where you didn't know where the finish line was,” Gareth reflects. “But St Luke's support, both at home and on the In Patient Centre, meant so much to me and the boys.

“There's a feeling of love and protection and I was so relieved to have someone else to share the burden of responsibility with regards to medical decisions. We didn't know where this would end or when it would end, but we did know St Luke's were always there whenever we needed.”

Gareth teamed up with his local community to organise a christmas fayre and memorial christmas tree as a heartfelt thank you for the support he and his family received. We are incredibly grateful for his ongoing generosity.

Did you know?

We are a charity and....

Our costs are rising all the time and without your support St Luke's wouldn't exist. This year it will cost £15million for us to deliver specialist hospice care across Sheffield. Just 23% of our running costs are covered by government funding. Help us to fill the gap of over £11million.

We care for nearly 1,800 patients each year and 88% of this care is delivered in the community. At any one time we are caring for around 350 people in their own homes.
